Faculty Senate Passes Student Proposed Amendment

by Alice Warren

The Faculty Senate of Newark State College voted unanimously Monday to adopt the Student Council supported amendment to the Senate's Constitution.

The section of the constitution changed previously read:

"Primarily concerned with instruction, the Faculty of the college and its representatives on the Faculty Senate and Committee shall be empowered and formulate policies for which the college itself has responsibility in the areas of: student life and discipline, including athletics, student government, and counseling."

The amendment was added onto this Section and read: However, this shall not in any way impede or violate the autonomy and freedoms presently reserved to the Student Organization.

Final ratification of the amendment must be voted on next month by the Faculty Association.

Dr. John Hutchinson, Chairman of the Faculty Senate, stressed that "it was never the Senate's intent to diminish the areas of student freedom nor has there ever been any Senate action that did that."

The question of just what "autonomy and freedoms" are guaranteed by the amendment was discussed by the Senate.

Dr. Nathan Weiss, Chairman of the History Department, opined that there will always be a question over where student and faculty powers are separated and that this is a matter of interpretation.

Weiss suggested that there was a possibility the Senate Council conflicts could be referred.

Dr. Irene Reifsnyder, Chairman of the Faculty Senate's Constitution Committee recommends adoption of the amendment.

Dr. John Hutchinson, Chairman of the Faculty Senate, reads proposed amendment to the Senate's constitution which that body voted for unanimously. Secretary E. Stier is on Hutchinson's left.

Some Aren't Speaking of Vietnam

McCarthy Says Polit.

Quiet On Vietnam

Senator Eugene Mc Carthy said Saturday on Senator Robert F. Kennedy's home ground that some American political leaders aren't speaking their minds on Vietnam.

The Minnesota Senator said it took no political insight to understand he wanted support of Robert F. Kennedy in Mc Carthy's campaign against President Johnson's renomination. But Mc Carthy stated that his remarks were not intended to single out the Kennedys.

He named no one in his speech and said he was "just stating the case."

Mc Carthy spoke before a group of his New York backers called "Coalition for a Democratic alternative." The statewide conference of the coalition endorsed Mc Carthy as Democratic alternative to President Johnson's renomination.

Mc Carthy has complained that liberal elements have not rallied to his challenge of Johnson for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"There are some Americans, including some at the highest levels of government and politics, who have not yet spoken as their minds and consciences dictate," said Mc Carthy. "In

Board Of Higher Education Sets Guidelines For Local Trustees

The Board of Higher Education of the State of New Jersey has established a set of guidelines for Newark State's newly appointed Board of Trustees. These guidelines formulated the responsibilities which the Board feels the trustees should emphasize for the good of the college.

The guidelines sent to the Board of Trustees were to determine whether or not the institution is adequate in terms of program planning and enrollment, to cultivate academic freedom, guide the involvement of faculty in governance of the college, plan the expansion and conversion of the college into a multi-purpose institution, appraise the teacher training programs, articulate with community colleges, encourage all research programs that encourage student involvement and communication with the administration and contribute to the identity of Newark State as a whole.

The new Board of Trustees was formally announced in December. The members were appointed by the State Board of Higher Education with the consent of Governor Hughes.

The members include Dr. W. Michael Blumenthal, president of Bendix International and a former U.S. Ambassador; Dr. John Brown, vice-president for research and development of Colgate-Palmolive; Mr. Aldrage Cooper manager of employee services for Triangle Conduit and Cable; Mr. John Kean, president of the Elizabethtown Gas Company; Mr. Meyer Melnikoff, senior vice president for Prudential Insurance Company; Mrs. Laurine Oliver Moffett, specialist in economic research; and Mr. Dominick R. Sanfilippo, manager of Local 145, International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Med School Site Change If Jan Deadline Not Met

by Maureen Higgins

The New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry has taken steps to acquire sites other than Newark for the planned school.

The college has agreed to give the city of Newark and the Federal Government until January 15th to "deliver" land in Newark, however, if a location in the city is not made available by that date, George F. Smith, chairman of the medical school's board of trustees, has stated the college will be able to "proceed with construction of the first phase of college facilities without delay." This statement was incorporated in a letter from Mr. Smith to Governor Richard Hughes.

Previously, Governor Hughes had asked the board to wait until January 15th — a two-week extension of its deadline to be notified concerning the availability of a Newark site — before seeking another location.

In addition to Newark, sites under consideration are in Morris, Hudson, Bergen and Union counties. The most probable alternate location would seem to be the Dodge estate in Madison.

The extension of the deadline from December 31 until January 15 is to allow the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to approve changes in an eleven acre tract opposite City Hospital which the

Wesper To Be Construction Co-ordinator College Gets State's Head Man For Job

President Eugene G. Wilkins announced the appointment of John R. Wesper from the State Department of Higher Education to the head of the building expansion program at Newark State.

The appointment made by Chancellor of Higher Education Ralph A. Dungan will become effective on a full time basis January 15. Wesper had held the position since November 1, but on a part-time basis, dividing his time between Newark State and the Chancellor's Office.

As co-ordinator of construction and utilization at Newark State, he is responsible for developing an overall building plan that will provide greater advantage for existing programs, make room for a steadily increasing enrollment, and facilitate the growth of the college from a primarily teacher training institute to a multi-purpose college.

Dr. Wilkins commented, "Mr. Wesper's appointment will enable the college to develop a plan of program and plant projection for the next 10 years. His transfer from the college construction program at Trenton brings to Newark State and to the college a wealth of background and experience. His work should be invaluable in not only a long-term planning, but also in following through the day-to-day program of plant utilization."

There are now 17 buildings on the 120-acre campus; further construction is being planned. The current enrollment is about 3,200 full-time undergraduate students. Part-time students at the Union campus and at off-campus centers at Monmouth and Morris Counties bring the total enrollment to about 10,000.

The original estimation three years ago for a smaller less elaborate center was $1.65 million. The latest figures, given by the New Jersey Highway Authority, sponsor of the Arts Center, are stated as being from $6.5 million to $6.75 million, are expected to rise.

Provisions for a master layout plan include a smaller theater for the drama, restaurant, skating rink, botanical gardens, ski slope, and an observation tower.

Parkway Authority Chairman Sylvester C. Smith stated that there is no immediate prospects of expanding the plans for the center.

The major categories of the center proposals, now estimated are: 5,150 seat amphitheater — $3.13 million; surrounding grounds — $1.8 million; architectural, engineering and design fees — $634,000; special mix for marble-like appearance on amphitheater — $52,907.

The Parkway Authority, stated Smith, will be able to pay for the Arts Center from tolls collected over the next 25 years.

Quiet Rationality For Drug Users

College administrators were told (November) that they should adopt a policy of "quiet rationality" in dealing with student drug users, that legalization of marijuana is more likely to come through the clouds than through legislative action, and that there is wide disagreement over the dangers of LSD.

The administrators heard those views at a conference on drugs at the University of Chicago. The conference was sponsored by the National Student Association under a grant from the National Institutes of Health.

Many of the administrators were from schools where, according to some of them, there is as yet little use of drugs. A number of them acknowledged that they are perplexed over what they should do if they found students turning on with marijuana or taking LSD trips.

According to Howard S. Becker, professor of sociology at Northwestern University, administrators tend to take harsh action for two main reasons: they believe the use of drugs has bad effects on students and they are under pressure from alumni, trustees, and the public.

The most likely way to avoid campus drug incidents, Becker suggested, is to "educate administrators to a calm, rational position." Trying to force students to stop drug use entirely, he said, would require "extreme totalitarian measures, the equivalent of stop-and-frisk laws, such as room searches."

The dilemma of administrators was voiced, in an interview, by Jim Reynolds, program director of the student union at Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. "Do we protect students from the civil courts, and handle it as a matter of education," he asked, or should students take the legal consequences of drug possession?

Ralph Oteri, the Boston Lawyer, who is currently attempting to bring a test case on marijuana to the U. S. Supreme Court said, "I expect to see federal marijuana laws found unconstitutional very soon, because they both require paying a tax and make possession illegal, which is self-incrimination."

Judicial decision, such as the one Oteri is seeking, appear to be the main hope for abolition of marijuana laws. Michigan State Senator Roger Craig, who is attempting to get that state's marijuana laws repealed, says "Nobody is interested in touching it, and because of my stand on marijuana, I may not be in the Michigan legislature much longer." Irrational and arbitrary are the main hope at present, he said.

While most of the psychologists and medical researchers at the conference felt that the

Faculty Recital Successful Evening

On Monday evening, January 8, the action centered around a group of exceptionally talented NSC professors in the Theater for The Performing Arts.

The faculty recital began with a "Concerto for Clarinet" (Karl Stamitz) an "Etude for Solo Clarinet" (Cyrille Rose) and the "Solo de Concourse" by Andre Messenger. Lowell Zimmer was performed on the clarinet and Doris Engelhard accompanied him on the piano. All three compositions were relatively light listening. The "Solo de Concourse" seemed to be the most enjoyable, as it was in itself varied and interesting. Mr. Zimmer emphasized a "chamber music" atmosphere.

A change in mood accompanied soprano Doris Barnes as she sang "Let Me Wonder No Unseen" (George F. Handel), "Abendstimmung" (Frederick Delius), "L'Heure Exquise" (Revaldo Hahn), "Tell Me, O Blue Blue Sky" (Vittorio Giannini), and "Pagliacci" (Ruggerio Leoncavallo). Miss Barnes, style is unique and the delivery exciting, as was shown to advantage in "Abendstimmung". She was accompanied by Richard Esterman on the piano.

The most unusual offering of the evening was Robert Tennyson's solo trombone, accompanied by Herbert Golub on piano. The trombone is not usually considered a particularly popular solo instrument, as opposed to something like the violin or the piano, yet Tennyson's interpretation of Frank Martin's "Ballade" was undoubtedly the most exciting performance of the evening. His repertoire also included "Fantasia" (Sigmund Stojowski) and "Concerto No. 1 in B Flat Major" (Antonio Vivaldi).

The evening was an unqualified success in that the quality, professional atmosphere and audience appreciation was present in large measure. The audience was rather sparse, however, and it is to be hoped that when more realize the value of an evening of faculty presentations, more students will be out to support their efforts, despite bitter cold weather.

All College Mixer Friday To Benefit The Retarded

Sigma Beta Tau Fraternity is holding an all college mixer Friday night January 12, 1968 for the Woodbridge State School for the Mentally Retarded.

The Dance will feature the Intruders and will cost Newark State students 50; all others will be admitted for $1.00.

The school is composed of 20 cottages each housing approximately 50 residents. The Brothers of Tau have adopted cabin #5 where 5 nonambulatory children ages 5 to 8 are committed for life.

TOURS & JOBS IN EUROPE

Now it is possible to have an exciting, fun-filled, low priced tour of Europe & a paying job anytime during the entire year. Your choice of job & country with wages up to $400 a month. For a booklet with all jobs, tours & application forms send $2 (handling & air mail) to: Dept. K, American Student Information Service, 22 Ave. de la Liberté, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

The service fraternity became interested in becoming a sponsor for the cottage after a few of the Brothers visited the school with the Special Education faculty at Newark State. After a Christmas Party for the entire school, the Brothers adopted the cottage.

Adoption of a cottage requires that clothing, toys and some instructional material be supplied by the sponsor. The sponsors are also required to hold parties and picnics, provide money for articles needed in the cottage, and supply love and affection.

Robert Palma, President of the fraternity said, "I am extremely proud to be associated with a group of men, so dedicated to service to the college, the community and the country that they would take on a project of this size."

The school which is subsidized by the state relies heavily on sponsors for the maintenance of the school.

The event is being supported by the Inter-Fraternity Sorority Council.

red to some sort of "board of mediation," composed either of impartial members of the college community or members from outside Newark State.

An almost year long dispute was ended with the adoption.

Question over Article II, Section 2 Paragraph d of the Senate Constitution was brought up at last February 17th's Student Council meeting by Florence Ageitos, a Junior History major.

Ageitos pointed out the section's lack of provision for student autonomy. She said: "Student life is a very broad and all encompassing term. Is there any action on campus which cannot be defined as student life."

"My very presence here, my privilege to speak with you," Ageitos told Council members, "is part of student life. And the Faculty Senate will have the power to formulate all policy in that sphere if their constitution becomes a legal document."

Shortly thereafter, Donald R. Raichle, former Chairman of the Faculty Senate, stated "I assure (Student Organization) of a zeal equal to their own in defense of the free expression of ideas and of the principles of autonomy."

On April 27th, the Independent suggested an amendment in an editorial column. Emile Oxford, president of the American Civil Liberties Union was part author of the amendment.

Student Council voted last May to support the amendment and urged its adoption by that body.

Faculty Senate members listen to the student proposed amendment to their constitution that they voted for last Monday. The amendment assures Student Organization autonomy that exists now.

Chi To Hold Benefit For JFK Drifters to Give Two Shows Sunday.

Two benefit performances by the well-known singing group, "The Drifters" plus a "Revue" will be presented at the Newark State College Theatre for the Performing Arts in Union, New Jersey, Sunday, January 14, 1968. Performances will be at 7:30 and 9:30 P.M.

The program will be presented by Sigma Theta Chi, a college fraternity, and it will benefit the College's John F. Kennedy Memorial Scholarship Fund. Last year the fraternity contributed $312.00 to the fund, which provides two scholarships annually to students at the College who show professional promise, academic proficiency, and leadership ability through participation in college activities.

Tickets are now on sale for $2.50 apiece and are also available at the door at the night of performance.

some cases they have not done so for reasons of personal and political convenience. There are a few, I suspect, who are waiting for a kind of latter day salvation. Four years is too long to wait."

McCarthy said that the 1968 election will show whether the two party electoral process is relevant to "the issue of war and peace," and whether the election will be a "test of whether the present administration, elected on a platform of restraint, will be held accountable by those who nominated and elected it."

McCarthy stated Saturday that in addition to "distorting" the economy and "frustrating" the promises of the Great Society, the war has alienated the youth, "upon whom the future of our nation depends." It has, he stated, "contributed to a vast malaise and distrust and of government that is settling like a dark cloud over our whole society."

On December 1, a group of liberal New Jersey Democrats, who are also concerned about the war, formed the Volunteers for McCarthy, whose aim it is to block Johnson's candidacy and work towards the candidacy of McCarthy.

The group will co-ordinate its efforts with the New Jersey Democratic Council, which has asked Senator McCarthy's permission to run his name on a ballot with other peace candidates pledged to him.

If he will not enter the primary, they plan to run the other candidates.

"Truth cannot be forced but must be allowed to plead for itself."

The Faculty Senate's New Amendment

The student proposed amendment to the Faculty Senate Constitution, subject to varying degrees of conflict for just six weeks less than a year, was passed unanimously last Monday afternoon at the Senate meeting. Surprising as the unanimity was, the near absence of debate was stunning. Forty six weeks of proposals, counterproposals, arguments, editorials, threats and hard feelings ended in ten minutes of Senate action with no dissenting opinions heard. One can only wonder.

Students have long been aware of the need for a strong and legally constituted body of faculty members to formulate policies for the college. But students rights and freedoms could not be compromised in word or print to meet this aim. Article I, Section 2, paragraph d as it now reads allows all parties freedom of movement within their frameworks to strengthen the college.

The threat of faculty infringement on the rights of the Student Organization has been nearly eliminated entirely. Student objection to the Faculty Senate should be similarly eliminated.

As the good faith is being restored between the two legislative bodies on campus immediate steps should be taken to eliminate future conflicts of this show down type nature.

A faculty Senator made an excellent suggestion to solve future conflicts with a minimum of pain and maximum of intelligence. A non partial mediation board could be established to settle any future jurisdictional dispute.

The past year's unfortunate controversy may have been remedied swiftly and painlessly if this very basic American procedure had been followed.

Now while both sides are not caught in emotionalism and fear this impartial mediating board's composition and mandates could be agreed upon by Senate and Student Executives. We trust it will be, for it will indeed be healthy for Newark State to have the Student Organization and the Faculty Senate working for common goals rather than conflicting ones. The Independent anxiously awaits this.

The Parking Problem

Student teaching will end this week, and with its close, introduce a problem of utmost immediacy on the Newark State Campus.

The end of semester break will see the entire college community on campus for the first time until the 1967-68 academic year terminates. The 1967-68 welcome-back for many of the students will begin with the parking situation—a situation that will probably reach the emergency point within the first week back on campus.

Presently there are 1400 parking spaces in the Newark State lots. There are approximately 2200 cars registered to park in these lots. This is a difference of 800.

Even allowing for duplicate registrations for students with more than one car and differing schedules among those parking, the situation leaves scores of students without a place to park on campus. Vigilance of the campus police makes it unpleasant and expensive to invent parking spaces.

The problem is an immediate one, but it was not immediate when stickers were given out in August; it was not immediate the beginning of the academic year.

Newark State College is a commuters' college—which should mean that there is a prerequisite for adequate parking conditions at the college.

The college does not exist to cater to whims of the students, but it does exist to provide an atmosphere where learning is not stifled. Lateness for class and frustration caused by a poor parking situation does not contribute to such an atmosphere.

We urge the Student Council Committee on Parking, and the college to come up with a workable solution of immediate and most pressing importance to the Newark State College Community.

The Course Evaluation

The 1967-1968 Course Evaluation committee threatens to publish an evaluation after a one year layoff. Thank heavens for that.

Student Council's most progressive step of three years ago seems to have been treated as a good idea that required too much time and effort for the Council to do anything about.

The Course Evaluation Committee under the direction of John Evangelisti has taken the initial steps. All future steps must come from the students themselves. To insure that the evaluation is a success and to hope that courses, methods and instruction will be modified, the students must return the questionnaires that have been distributed.

Perhaps the next task of the Council would be to secure permission from the Faculty Senate to distribute the questionnaires in class and have 15 to 20 minutes of class time devoted to filling out the form. To be sure, both students and faculty can see the worth that can be derived from an evaluation of the courses and teachers if it were compiled from a majority of the students.

This enlightening survey is a must for a growing institution, especially one that is shifting its emphasis to Liberal Arts from teacher education. The Course and Teacher Evaluation Committee has done its part; now the students and faculty must help carry the load.

A Public Apology

In the holiday supplement to this newspaper an article appeared that has obviously caused certain members of the college community considerable discomfort.

The Dependent, an annual yule humor magazine supplement to the Independent, has been provided by the editors for the past three years as an extra holiday bonus for the college's enjoyment.

The article "Katrina Harmless Joined in Marriage to Jim-Jim Cumberbund in the East Room," that appeared on page 3 of the supplement was an attempt at humor. Our attempt was obviously unsuccessful.

The article was not written with any malicious intent and was not based on any fact. It was simply a poor attempt at being humorous.

We extend to those who we have caused discomfort our sincerest regrets and apologies.

Sound and Fury

On Hershey

To the Editor:

I write with reference to General Hershey's latest advice to his local draft boards; namely, that the boards should strip students of their deferments and put them at the top of the induction lists if they interfere with the work of Armed Forces recruiters on the campus.

Under "normal" conditions in the world, the work of the recruiters on the campus would not be given a second glance by most students. But today it is a different story. Are the students troublemakers having fun or are they people so filled with a sense of despair and impotence because the war continues that they have finally decided that some form of active engagement against the military establishment is a course they must take?

Let us not forget one thing. These students are the same who marched peacefully in protest of the war. They listened to professors speak at teach-ins. No doubt, they have written letters. In the little time that has passed since their peaceful marches, they have not suddenly changed into agents of misrule who now deserve vengeance in the form of military induction. They do not love their country any less now. The only change is that they now squarely face a dilemma: They continue to be deeply concerned and worried about the war, yet they feel more and more incapable of doing things which would bring the war to a speedy conclusion.

Most of all, General Hershey has no right to call the shots. If there is a law against such interference, then let the law deal with the students. We cannot allow a segment of the military establishment to mete out penalties in this case. We are speaking of civilians, who, until they are in uniform, are free agents, members of civilian law. They should not be dealt with arbitrarily by the military, which, thank God, is not yet all-pervasive and all-embracing.

I think it would be in the best interest of this nation if General Hershey stuck to running the Selective Service System. If the General feels that he is capable of deciding upon the nature of penalties for such actions, then let him get a bill through the Congress. Certainly, he has many friends up there who would be willing to help him out.

Taste?

To the Editor:

Your "Dependent" section of December 13's Independent showed exceedingly bad taste and a sick sense of humor in its satirical article obviously directed at the marriage of Kathy Harms, a Newark State senior, to Jim Fulcomer, a Newark State alumnus. While the Independent has every right to criticize Mrs. Fulcomer's actions in her many campus activities, this article reflecting on her personal life was completely unwarranted and out of place. The editorial staff must be strongly lacking in maturity, judgement and standards of recency to have allowed it to be printed.

I am an admirer of Mrs. Fulcomer for the many outstanding contributions she has made to the college and its students, and I proudly consider myself her friend. The Independent owes her an apology of the highest order for it can in no way justify such a vile and slanderous article.

"Teaching in Ghetto Schools" Discussion Draws Few on Campus

"Teaching in Ghetto Schools" was the topic of interest on Tuesday, January 9, as Dr. M. Hillson and Mr. J. Bongo from Rutgers University presented their views to a small group of students in B-109. The program was originally an extension of Dr. Bob Chasnoff's class in "Experimental Patterns in Education"; it was then opened up to the rest of the school.

The two speakers used their efforts at the Camden Street School in the slums of Newark as a basis for their theories. Beginning with the statement "Newark is a dying city," Hillson went on to explain their efforts to counteract the "death-throes." Their feeling was that Job Corps was ineffective and irrelevant — the real need is to get at the source of the problem and this source is in the ghetto schools.

The Camden Street School serves a a model subsystem in a "non-graded" or "continuous progress" school, grades K-3, for disadvantaged children. Hand in hand with this is an effort to alleviate community conditions which produce academic failure. A Child-Parent Center has been set up to create an "Outreach", an aid for parents in negotiating with the bureaucracy on one hand and in providing a satisfactory home life on the other.

In order to aid teaching in ghetto areas and "to make the school fit the child," a new, more relevant curriculum is being created, as well as a program to re-train teachers and a movement towards individualized instruction. One of their chief problems seems to be in the diagnosis of the child's performance level, as opposed to his ability of I.Q. and the creation of adequate tests for this area. One of their more important points to be made was that the elementary grade teacher must be taken out of the self-contained classroom. Their solution was "team-planning" and a special schedule enabling most effective use of the teachers' capabilities.

danger from smoking the common type of marijuana is no greater than from drinking liquor, there was disagreement on the dangers of LSD.

Daniel X. Freedman, chairman of the department of psychiatry at the University of Chicago, said reports of chromosome damage due to LSD use have all the elements of a scare story. Recently published research reports on the question are split, he said.

Dr. J. Thomas Ungerleider, a neurologist at the medical center of the University of California at Los Angeles, emphasized the risks of "bad trips" in taking LSD. Several of the patients he has seen required intensive care after such experiences, he said.

"In loco parentis may have been all right when all the students came from the same background. But you can't be a parent to 6,000 students whose families have very different social and economic positions."

school would use to temporarily house teaching and administrative buildings which are now located in Jersey City.

Meanwhile, Dr. Sam S. Barklis, a member of the medical school's board of trustees, has reiterated his call for a change in the proposed site from Newark to Madison. Barklis said that the board "little understands the problems and needs of medical education." He charged that the board is "too busy to learn about them," and "too willing to put the compromises of its chairman who claims to speak for the board in advance and then secure the grudging consent of the board members in subsequent closed sessions by cajoling and warnings of dire things to come if they don't follow his actions.

Nu Theta Plans Best Dressed Girl Contest

The Sisters of Nu Theta Chi Sorority in conjunction with Glamour Magazine are sponsoring at Newark State, Glamour's "10 Best-dressed College Girl Contest".

This contest is designed to select the best dressed woman student on this campus, and her name will be submitted to Glamour where she will be considered along with entries from colleges around the nation.

The guide lines that must be considered on the local level are the same that Glamour uses to judge the contestants: Each winner must have: 1. a clear understanding of her fashion type; 2. a workable wardrobe plan; 3. a suitable campus look; 4. appropriate look for off-campus occasions.

She must also have individuality in her use of color and accessories and imagination in managing a clothes budget.

Although this is not a beauty contest, the girl selected will be judged on good grooming, well-kept hair, deft use of make-up, a good figure and beautiful posture.

Although letters have been sent to all student organizations on campus, Jackie DiClementi, vice-president of Nu Theta Chi, emphasized that the contest is open to all female students in the college. She also stated that Glamour, in judging the contestants, considers the location of every college in the contest and that all judging is done by the use of photographs of the local winners.

These photographs must show the NSC winner in three outfits: 1. a typical campus outfit; 2. an off-campus daytime outfit; 3. a party dress (long or short.)

The local judges will be selected from the college faculty and administration.

If the NSC winner is chosen by Glamour as one of the 10 best-dressed, she will receive national recognition for herself and her college in the August College Issue of Glamour, photographs taken by leading fashion photographers for that issue, and a personal gift from Glamour.

The winner will also receive an all-expense paid visit to New York City from June 2 to June 14, and will stay at the Waldorf-Astoria. This trip will include visits to cultural centers, museums, evenings at the theatre and dinner at famous restaurants.

Applications are available at the Information and Services Desk. The deadline for applying is January 26, as the NSC winner's name must be submitted to Glamour by March 1. A recent photo should accompany the application.

Applications may be returned to the NOX Mailbox No. 028 or to Jackie DiClementi, Meg Morgan or Geri Churik. Any student desiring further information may contact Misses DiClementi, Morgan or Churik at Mailbox No. 896 of the College Center.

Newark State College behind the fine all-around play of Blair Reed and the clutch shooting of Tom Ziolkowski upset highly favored Trenton State, 70-68, in the Squires 1967-68 conference opener. The Squires had an off night from the floor hitting only 26 for 77 from the floor, and turned over the ball twenty-two times, but they had control of the boards by a 66-49 count, while converting 18 free throws to the Lions' 10 charity tosses and these two factors proved to be decisive.

The Squires started the game like they were the UCLA Bruins grabbing a 24-11 lead in the first eleven minutes as Blair Reed hit six consecutive shots from the floor. At this point the Squires cooled off and at half time the Squires held a seven point lead at 32-25.

At the start of the second half Trenton scored four straight points cutting the margin to 32-29. Tom Ziolkowski then hit a free throw making the score 33-29. Fred Keating of Trenton cut the margin to 33-31. Blair Reed scored three points uping the margin to 36-31. Two Squires baskets to one for Trenton left the score at 40-33 and again it seemed that the Squires would break the game wide open.

The two teams exchanged baskets until with 7:22 left to be played the Squires led 58-52. With 7:01 left Vince Morro cut the gap to 58-54, and then with 6:44 Vince added a free throw for a 58-55 count. Twenty one seconds later Al Griffith hit a charity toss and Trenton was behind by a single basket.

With 5:52 to play Fred Boff tapped in a basket raising the lead to 60-56. Trenton countered with a basket cutting the margin to 60-58 but Tom Ziolkowski hit a pair of clutch free throws for a four points lead. Trenton then cut the margin to 62-61, but Ziolkowski's basket gave the Squires a 64-61 lead and George Gilcrest hit a lay-up making the score 66-61.

An exchange of basket made the score 68-63, but Trenton scored the next three points cutting the margin to 68-66 with 1:07 left to play. The Squires went into a freeze and with 31 seconds left Jim Catalino hit two free throws and the Squires were home free. Trenton scored one more time and the final score found the Squires ahead 70-68.

Blair Reed, Tom Ziolkowski, and Fred Boff were the big men for the Squires. Blair scored twenty points, grabbed nine rebounds, handed out five assists, blocked six shots, and came up with three steals. Tom led the Squires in scoring with twenty-three points, and in rebounding with seventeen, while handing out six assists. Fred Boff only scored eight points, but the big center grabbed sixteen rebounds, including eleven in the second half. It was a team effort and a hard earned victory.

Rutgers Stuns State 83-76

A fired-up Rutgers So Jersey team upset the Newark State Squires and broke the loser's three game winning streak, at Camden Convention Hall. The Rutgers team shot fifty percent from the floor and although a much shorter team than the Squires held them virtually even off the backboards to gain the victory.

The first part of the game was played on even terms and with seven minutes gone, the score was dead-locked at 20-20. Camden took command here, by running off ten straight points for a 30-20 lead and Rutgers held on to the ten point lead the rest of the half going into the locker room with a 52-42 edge.

At the start of the second half Rutgers scored six points to five for the Squires and the score

Squires Win First Two Conference Games, Lose To Rutgers So. Jer.

off fourteen straight wins and grabbed a 61-58 lead. Fred Boff, Tom Ziolkowski, and Blair Reed scored four points each in the streak. An exchange of baskets made the score 63-60, and a Rutgers free throw cut the margin to 63-61. George Gilcrest then hit a three pointer and the Squires led 66-61. It now seemed that Newark was in command of the situation.

It was not to be Newark's night. Rutgers ran off eight straight points for a 69-66 lead, but Tom Ziolkowski got a three pointer knotting the count at 69-69. Pete Vearling broke the tie with a jumper and Rutgers led 71-69. Boff hit a free throw cutting the margin to 71-70. An exchange of baskets left the score at 73-72. Jim Marino hit a jumper and Newark was back in from 74-73 with 1:49 to play. It was to be Newark's last lead.

Rutgers ran off eight straight points and it was all over but the shouting.

Tom Ziolkowski led the Squires in scoring with 24 points, while Fred Boff with 18 points, George Gilcrest with 13 points and Blair Reed with 12 points also hit double figures for the Squires. Ziolkowski also added twelve rebounds and handed out ten assists while Boff grabbed fourteen rebounds.

1968: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

Are you still writing "1967" on your papers and letters? I'll bet you are, you scamp! But I am not one to be harsh with those who forgot we are in a new year, for I myself have long been guilty of the same lapse. In fact, in my senior year at college, I wrote 1873 on my papers until nearly November of 1874! (It turned out, incidentally, not to be such a serious error because, as we all know, 1874 was later repealed by President Chester A. Arthur in a fit of pique over the Black Tom Explosion. And, as we all know, Mr. Arthur later came to regret his hasty action. Who does not recall that famous meeting between Mr. Arthur and Louis Napoleon when Mr. Arthur said, "Lou, I wish I hadn't of repealed 1874." Whereupon the French emperor made his immortal rejoinder, "Tipi que nous et tyler tu". Well sir, they had many a good laugh about that, as you can imagine.)

But I digress. How can we remember to write 1968 on our papers and letters? Well sir, the best way is to find something memorable about 1968, something unique to fix it firmly in your mind. Happily, this is very simple because, as we all know, 1968 is the first year in history that is divisible by 2, by 5, and by 7. Take a pencil and try it: 1968 divided by 2 is 984; 1968 divided by 5 is 393.6; 1968 divided by 7 is 281.14. This mathematical curiosity will not occur again until the year 2079, but we will all be so busy then celebrating the Chester A. Arthur bi-centenary that we will scarcely have time to be writing papers and letters and like that.

Another clever little trick to fix the year 1968 in your mind is to remember that 1968 spelled backwards is 8691. "Year" spelled backwards is "raey." "Personna" spelled backwards is "Annosrep." I mention Personna because I am paid to write this column by the makers of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades, and they are inclined to withhold my check if I omit to mention their product.

Not, mind you, that it is any chore for me to sing the praises of Personna, for it is a seemly blade that shaves you cleanly, a gleaming blade that leaves you beaming, a trouble-free blade that leaves you stubble-free, a matchless blade that leaves you scratchless. If you are tired of facial slump, if you are fed up with jow! blight, try Personna today... available both in double-edge style and Injector style. And if I seem a bit excessive in my admiration for Personna, I ask you to remember that to me Personna is more than a razor blade; it is also an employer.

But I digress. We were speaking of the memorable aspects of 1968 and high among them, of course, is the fact that in 1968 the entire House of Representatives stands for election. There will, no doubt, be many lively and interesting contests, but none, I'll wager, quite so lively and interesting as the one in my own district where the leading candidate is none other than Chester A. Arthur!

Mr. Arthur, incidentally, is not the first ex-president to come out of retirement and run for the House of Representatives. John Quincy Adams was the first. Mr. Adams also holds another distinction: he was the first son of a president ever to serve as president. It is true that Martin Van Buren's son, Walter "Blinky" Van Buren, was at one time offered the nomination for the presidency, but he, alas, had already accepted a bid to become Mad Ludwig of Bavaria. James K. Polk's son, on the other hand, became Salmon P. Chase. Millard Fillmore's son went into aluminum siding. This latter became known as the Missouri Compromise.

Rap Glassboro State 98-74

Newark State College scored an unbelievable 34 points in the last eleven minutes of the first half and then went on to defeat Glassboro 98-74 for their second conference victory in two games. The Squires trailed 15-12 when the streak began and led 46-30 when it ended. The second half of the contest was controlled by the Squires as they stretched their lead to as much as thirty-three points before coasting to the victory. The big factors in the win were a 40 for 80 shooting performance from the floor and a 70-44 edge in the rebound department.

Newark scored the first three points of the game as Jim Marino hit a jumper. Blair Reed then hit a free throw and Newark led 3-0. The Squires held this lead until the score reached 12-10. At this point Glassboro ran off five straight points and the Squires were behind 15-12. It was here that the Squires began their move. Jim Marino hit a foul shot and Jim Catalano sunk a lay-up being the score at 15-15. Blair Reed, who scored thirteen points in the first half, then put Newark ahead for good with a jumper. Jim Marino lay-up made the score 19-15 and Reed added a pair of free throws for a 21-15 score. An exchange of baskets made the score 23-17 and then a Glassboro basket followed by a proof-free throw cut the gap to 23-20. An exchange of baskets brought the score at 25-22 and then Newark broke the game wide open.

Jim Marino started the fireworks by hitting a jumper for a 27-22 margin. Charlie Russo, of Glassboro, hit a foul cutting the margin to 27-23, but George Gilcrest with three foul shots and Blair Reed with a jumper gave the Squires a 33-23 edge. Glassboro cut the gap to 33-24 on a foul shot, but Tom Ziolkowski sandwiched two baskets around one Glassboro point and Blair Reed hit a lay-up and foul for a 40-25 edge. Glassboro cut the margin to 42-30 with a half minute to go, but Gilcrest with a hook and a jumper opened the margin to 46-30 at half-time.

Glassboro scored to open the second half, but Newark went on 20-9 tear for a 66-41 margin and the closest Glassboro came after that was the final margin.

Blair Reed, Tom Ziolkowski and George Gilcrest, all sparkled for the Squires. Blair Reed hit 9 out of his 15 field goal attempts and scored 24 points. He also handed out six assists, pulled down seven rebounds and blocked five shots. Tom Ziolkowski scored 18 points, pulled down seventeen rebounds, and handed out seven assists. Gilcrest hit 9 out of 14 shots, scored twenty one points and grabbed nine rebounds.

The win gave Newark a 5-3 record overall and boasted their conference record to 2-0. Good enough to share the conference lead with Montclair State.

Jersey City Stuns Squires 85-72 Conference Title Hopes Suffer

by Fred Hansen

Newark State's conference title chances suffered a severe blow as Jersey City upset the Squires 85-72 on Saturday night. The smaller Gothic team out shot, out rebounded and out defended the visiting Newark team. The loss dropped Newark out of first place tie with Montclair and left them tied for second with Paterson State. The Squires conference record is now 2-1.

The lead sea-sawed back and forth for most of the first half and with 3:37 left to play the score was 27-26, Newark's lead. At this point the Squires caught fire and threatened to break the game wide open. Jim Marino hit a jumper opening the margin to 29-26 and then Tom Ziolkowski hit a pair of foul shots for a 31-26 margin. Marino then pumped another jumper through the hoop and the score was 33-26. The margin remained at seven points as baskets by Ziolkowski and Boff balanced out two Gothic baskets, and left the Squires ahead 37-30 with a minute and a half to go. Here the Squires blew there cool and the Gothic scored seven points to one for the Squires, leaving the half time margin at 38-37.

The second half started and the two teams played the game on an even keel. The score was tied at 45-45 with fifteen minutes to go. Here, Jersey City grabbed the lead for good. Jersey City ran off seven straight for a 52-45 edge. The margin was gradually increased and soon Jersey City had a ten point lead of 66-56.

Newark now made its last run at the Gothics. Tom Ziolkowski hit a jumper and Fred Boff converted a charity toss. Ziolkowski hit a driving hook and Blair Reed popped a jumper through the hoop cutting the margin to 66-63. It appeared that the Squires might be able to pull it out but the Gothics had other ideas. Pared by Fred Douglas and Lar Venanzio the Gothics went on a 13-1 tear to seal the Squires down.

Tom Ziolkowski with 21 points and Blair Reed with 19 points were the Squire big guns. Fred Boff with thirteen points, and Jim Marino with twelve points also aided the Squire cause. It was just a case of an off-night shooting and a poor performance off the boards. It is now going to take a superlative effort for the Squires to annex the title this year.

The above is a copy of the new athletic crest, given to the school by the Kappa class of Sigma Beta Tau. It was approved by Council and is now the official athletic crest of the school. Story will follow.

Sports Desk

by Fred Hansen

I'll open by wishing everyone a happy and successful New Year.

It would be nice to see a large crowd on hand when the Squires play powerful Montclair State on January 31, Montclair currently leads the conference but a Newark victory would throw the race into a four way struggle. A Montclair win would just about wrap up the title for the Indian squad.

I would hope that when the fans come to the game they would please conduct themselves in a manner befitting college students. Yell and scream the Squires on but show the other team the same respect you would like them to show you.

It is not showing school spirit when you boo the officials. It is not showing school spirit when you yell at a player attempting a foolshot. It is not showing good sportsmanship when you refuse to let the other team's cheerleaders perform. It is definitely not good sportsmanship to boo your own players.

If the other team's crowd wants to misbehave let them. It is a reflection on their school, not ours. Remember two wrongs do not make a right. Let's improve on our E.C.A.C. sportsmanship ranking.

Congratulations to Sam Sabilauskious and Clem Restine. Sam, who broke or tied all Squire scoring records, was named to the first string of the 1967 conference soccer team. A story will appear about Sam in the next issue. Clem our rapidly improving goalie, landed honorable mention on the same squad.

One of the main reasons for the improvement of this year's basketball team is the play of freshman Blair Reed. Blair a 6' 2" guard. He is the team's second leading scorer, leads the team in field goal percentage, leads the team in foul shooting, is second in assists, second in blocked shoots, and third in steals. That's quite an all around record for a freshman.

Gal Swimmers Take Opener Against Hall

by Linda Wolfskeil

The Newark State College Women's Swim Team started its season off with a splash Friday afternoon by defeating Seton Hall at home, 44-24. Newark won the first race and kept the lead throughout the entire meet.

The team was made up of freshmen and two sophomores, Fat Nervi and Sandy Peger. Many of the team members had never swam in a swim meet before until joining Newark State's team.

A highlight of the meet was the spectacular medley at the end of the meet. Newark finished a complete lap ahead of Seton Hall.

Team members swimming in the meet were Pat Foties, Laurie Frank, Connie Gross, Karen Gross, Teri Koellhoffer, Mary Leib, Ellen MacKay, Pat Nervi, and Sandra Peger.
